Discussion Series

Prairie Policy Centre invites you to:

GEOTHERMAL

Using the energy beneath our feet

Presented by:
Dwayne Snider, Regina Geothermal

Geothermal energy is simply heat generated from the earth. It is currently the world's third largest source of renewable energy - following hydroelectricity and biomass, and ahead of both solar and wind.

Its current level of use, however, pales in comparison to its potential.

And in terms of energy savings, installing a ground source heat pump system has been shown to reduce home heating costs by 35% to 75% over conventional gas, propane or oil systems and reduce carbon emissions significantly.

This energy source is readily available, renewable, clean- and it's free for the taking.

So how and where does geothermal fit into Saskatchewan's energy plan?
