Learn about Rare Earth Elements

Rare Earth Elements (REE) are a part of our everyday lives. They are found in our car's windshield, the hard drive in our computer and monitor and in our cell phone's rechargeable batteries. They are also used in many applications critical to emerging alternate energy technologies that could reduce our reliance on fossil fuels. Great West Minerals Group, a Saskatoon-based mining company, has located a significant Rare Earth Element deposit in Northern Saskatchewan.

So, why are they called Rare Earth Elements? What does this 'rare opportunity' hold for Saskatchewan? And, how we can take advantage of it?

You can get the answers to these and many other questions when Garry Billingsley comes to Lunch with the Prairie Centre. Gary is a professional engineer and geoscientist and has been directly involved in gold mining, the discovery of diamonds in Saskatchewan and now, the development of a Rare Earth Elements industry.
